

Current Event:

Compassion fatigue, coupled with mental and emotional issues, in veterinary medicine is starting to define the profession. While practicing veterinary medicine brings joy to many colleagues there is a heavy emotional load on veterinary professionals. Share your thoughts on why compassion fatigue is prevalent in veterinary medicine and how veterinary professionals can combat this issue.

[illegible]

