

2022 Veterinary Science CDE Team Activity

The role of biosecurity in food animal veterinary medicine.

Resource: <https://www.cfsph.iastate.edu/biosecurity/>

You work for a large-animal practice with four veterinarians and twenty-five support staff.

With the increasing concern of a foreign animal disease introduction into our nation's livestock industries, your veterinary team has decided to reach out to producers to discuss how biosecurity is being implemented on their premises.

Work with your team to create a plan to discuss with producers the known biosecurity risks facing their farm, reasonable mitigations that can be put in place for disease prevention, and enhanced biosecurity measures that should be implemented if a foreign animal disease is diagnosed at a neighboring farm.
