Dear Mr. Mark Kline:

On March 4, 2020 Senator [REDACTED] asked a peer and I to speak before the Senate Transportation Committee in support of Senate Bill 1132. This legislation would grant driving privileges to undocumented Idaho residents. While in the Senate Building, I had the opportunity to speak with Senators [REDACTED] about the young people wearing the red jackets. I learned they were all Senate pages. Inquiring further, I found that I could apply to be a Page during the summer before my senior year in high school. In working with Senator [REDACTED] on SB 1132, I recognized my passion for helping others. Those dedicated to public service are able to do that. As a Senate page, I will develop long-term skills while serving others.

As depicted in my résumé, I have extensive experience as a public speaker and writer. My work with those supporting SB 1132, as well as my FFA leadership experiences, allow me to look forward to serving as a page with optimism. My experience in researching both sides of controversial issues and developing promotional strategies for new and emerging technologies also makes me confident that I can serve with distinction as a Senate page. I realize that my regular duties will include maintaining Senate bill books and journal binders, delivering messages, running errands, making copies, and assisting the senators and staff in offices and committee meetings. My experience as a teacher and office aide will compliment those particular responsibilities. Beyond those duties, I would like to serve both the Agriculture and Transportation Committees should those positions be available.

My primary work experience has been as a general farm laborer. I know what high quality work is and how to perform to my highest capacity. I try and mirror my father's tireless work ethic. I have the fundamental agricultural background, experience in public communication, and proficiency in promotional strategies required to surpass the expectations of a Senate page. Although I am young, my life experience will lend themselves uniquely to both the mentioned committees above.

I am looking forward to meeting with you to discuss this position and my qualifications. My phone number is [REDACTED] and my email is [REDACTED]. I welcome an opportunity to visit with you personally, answer your questions, and further discuss the contributions I have to offer as a Senate page. Thank you for your time and consideration.

With Appreciation,

[REDACTED]
